POLY ROYAL SUPPLEMENT

April 25, 1959

GRITTING HIS TEETH... and holding on for all he is worth is Wes Pennington, AH major, in the first go-around of the brahma bull riding event at the annual Poly Royal intercollegiate rodeo. The final go-around in all events will be held this afternoon in Bud Collet Arena at 2:00 p.m. Awards of prizes and trophies will be made at tonight's trophy dance in Crandall Gym.

10 Classes Judged At Annual Flower Show

Floor displays by the Ornamental Horticulture students highlighted the annual Poly Royal flower show here yesterday and today.

George Roger of Encinitas and Jim Bryson of San Luis Obispo captured first place in the background patio display class to be followed in second place by Richard Oauli of Arroyo Grande and Ray Tanoue of Hawaii. John Abashell of Rialto, Bob King of San Luis Obispo and George Nakamoto of San Jose took third place in the same class. The special award went to Tosh Yamae and M. Wabeta.

Judging the floor displays and the 80 classes of specimens and arrangements were Mrs. Elsa Upmann Knoll, garden editor for Sunset magazine and Mrs. Walter Teiklenburg of Teek's Florists in Lodi. The judging took place yesterday, but exhibits will be open until late today.

Gauchos Beaten; Frosh Record Set

An NCAA frosh 1500 meters swimming record was shattered by Cal Poly's Jack Adam yesterday afternoon as the Mustangs and Colts clobbered University of California at Santa Barbara's Gauchos in a twinbill. The varsity splashers swam to a 61-51 triumph while the freshman conquered the UCSB first year men, 47-18.

Adam's time, 19:10.5, bettered the 1951 mark of 19:22.8 set by University of Washington's Herb Portolance. Mustang mentor Dick Anderson said the new standard would be submitted to the NCAA for recognition through that group's Records Committee.

Keeping their victory streak intact at eight, the varsity swimmers swept all 10 individual first places against the Gauchos. Thursday, April 30, finds the Andersons defending their State crown at the Long Beach State-hosted State College Swimming tourney.

Winter Quarter GPA's See Coeds Ace Men

Women's residence halls on campus out-did the men for the second straight quarter grade point wise.

Chase Hall, housing junior and senior girls, was on top with a 2.45 GPA during the winter quarter. The sophomore girls of Jespersen were close behind with 2.43.

For the first time this year, a men's hall placed in the top three, as the freshmen of Tehama came through with a 2.39.

The overall average of all on-campus living organizations was 2.19, as compared with 2.21 for fall quarter.

Horsehiders Lose; 24 Runs Cross Plate

Cal Poly baseballers went down to defeat yesterday afternoon as the Fresno State Bulldogs whacked out a 23-1 victory over the stunned locals. The game was played on the Mustang diamond as part of the Poly Royal program.

El Cerrito Captures Math Awards

El Cerrito high school took first place team honors at the annual Poly Royal mathematics contest held yesterday. Individual honors went to Barr Rosenberg, a member of the El Cerrito Team.

Placing second in team honors was Capuchino high school, San Bruno. Second place individual winner Noel Baggett, Capuchino High; third place, Kattie Todd, Capuchino High, and fourth place, Michael Fallon, Menlo-Atherton High, Atherton.

Participating in the contest were 69 schools from throughout the state.

1000 See Rodeo Events; Final Go—Around Today

Cal Poly's Bud Collet arena was alive with some 1000 spectators at the intercollegiate rodeo yesterday afternoon. Eighty-five contestants participated in the action-packed events that included bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, roping events, girl's calf tying and barrel racing and an unscheduled escape of "Yack," a brahma bull from the rodeo arena.

"Yack," part of the stock of Manuel Cardoso used at the Poly Royal rodeo, didn't seem at all enthused about the whole show. In fact, he disappointed Jim Jacobs, Cal Poly at Pomona, by escaping from his chute. To top it all off, he escaped from the arena and kept Cal Poly's Animal Husbandry instructors busy trying to get him back into the show.

Scott Reddington, announcer for the show, introduced Rodeo Queen Gerry Warshawski to the crowd at the beginning of the rodeo while participants rode in serpentine fashion with colorful flags in hand.

There's usually a slow in every crowd but this show had two—Jim "Mony" Monaghan, sophomore Animal Husbandry major from Placerville, and Bruce Dodson, senior Animal Husbandry major from Castro Valley.

The feminine beauties topped off the excitement of the day with their rendition of girls' calf tying, a race between Carol Truman, Carla Jean Coffman, Joan Maria Shephard, Karen Reynolds, Merna Muller and Nancy Mallory. Merna Muller did it again, another laurel to her title of National Girls Intercollegiate Goat Tying Champion.

And the real sportsmen were Roy Harris, Bill Gibford and Tom Brannum, Animal Husbandry instructors at Cal Poly who tried their hand at ribbon roping.

It was a harrowing experience; Gibford was held up for lack of a ribbon for his calf, but when the show finally got on the road, or into the arena, Gibford stopped his calf short with a well placed lariat.

Second in the event, Roy Harris,

Due to wet weather, the following location changes have been made for today's events:

The barbeque has been moved from Poly Grove to both the north and south cafeterias.

The adult judging contest will be held in the beef project unit on Pepper Lane instead of in Poly Stadium as originally scheduled.

All student showmanship contests have been moved to the judging pavilions, swine unit and sheep unit.

The intercollegiate rodeo will be held as scheduled at 2 p.m.

McGrew Elected ASB President

McCorkle, Munsee Win Veep, Secretary Posts

by John Zacharias

Ed McGrew, farm management major from Imperial Valley, was named Associated Student Body President as a result of elections held Tuesday and Wednesday. McGrew won with 950 votes compared to 570 for his opponent Ric Berndt, Ag. chemistry major from Morro Bay. Other student body offices were won by Bob McCorkle, farm management major from Glenn, vice president, and Skip Munsee, soil science major from Pleasant Hills, secretary. Runners-up were Dick Bartlett, M.E. major from Apple Valley for the veep post, and Luis Bustos, social science major from Angeles, Philippines, secretary.

"I am happy for the confidence the students have bestowed upon me and I would like to thank all those who had enough interest in their student government to vote in this week's elections," McGrew said in an interview following the announcement that he had won.

McGrew said that he does not plan any revolutionary changes in student government or policies. He added that he will deal with problems as they arise. McGrew said he realizes the problem of growing enrollment at Poly without a substantial increase in student body revenues, but feels that all phases of campus life should get fair treatment in their allocations.

McGrew feels that all the divisions of the campus should have fair representation, however, his appointments will be made from among the best qualified men for the job, rather than from sole consideration of division or major.

Concerning the elections, he said that he was sorry that more students did not exercise their right to vote. Almost two-thirds of the student body failed to go to the polls.

McGrew was also sorry that more people did not take the opportunity to meet the candidates at the campaign meeting held last Monday evening. This meeting, he said, was an opportunity for students to voice their criticism of student government and to express their views on current student issues.

Coronation Ball Climaxes Events

"This year's Coronation Ball will be the best ever," says Dean Markum, chairman of, the biggest social event of the season. "With all of the departments in school planning and working harder than ever to put on an outstanding Poly Royal, it's only fitting that we do our best to make the weekend a memorable one," Markum added.

The theme for the gala affair, "Fantasy In Lights," will be carried out with the use of multi-colored, shaded lights and decorations designed by Dave Bartlett.

As in previous years, the Ball will be held at the Camp San Luis Obispo Sports Arena, tonight from 9 to 12.

With music by the Collegians, unusual decorations, and the Coronation of the Queen at 10 p.m., the event is destined to be everything Markum says it will.

Tickets may be purchased at the door for $2 per couple or from members of the Engineering Council, sponsors of the annual event. Attire for the evening will be semi-formal (dark suits for men and formals for women).

California Dairy Princess Visiting Poly Royal

California Dairy Princess Jan Carlton will be on campus to give out dairy showmanship awards this morning and afternoon. Tonight she will attend the Ag. Journalism Press Banquet.

Miss Carlton was selected by the American Dairy Association and is acting as their representative.

Farlough Named All-American

Herman Farlough, muscular Cal Poly rope climber, has been named on the All-American intercollegiate gymnastics third team.

The pick was made by a selection committee made up of members of the National Association of Gymnastics Coaches.

Farlough, a senior social science major from Los Angeles, finished third in the 20 foot rope climb at this year's national collegiate meet, making the climb in 8.9 seconds. In 1958, Farlough finished second in the event, climbing the rope in 8.5 seconds.

Penn State University dominated the All-American teams, with the University of California at Berkeley the only other Pacific Coast school represented on the three All-American teams.

Today's El Mustang was printed entirely by students majoring in Printing, Division of Engineering.

You're likely to have your picture taken while visiting at Poly Royal this year! Cal Poly's Photo Bureau will be on the job covering just about every activity.

The staff of eleven photographers started work Thursday night at the Queen's reception and won't stop until the Coronation Ball ends the activities tonight. Department exhibits, displays, events and contests are scheduled to be shot by the busy lensmen.

If last year's Poly Royal is any indication, approximately 600-1000 pictures will be taken with 15 pieces of equipment.

Developing and printing the pictures will require a crew in the darkroom for the entire time. As pictures are shot, the film is brought in and processed immediately so it may be released to news gathering services, El Mustang and the school yearbook.

English Majors Sponsor Prep Drama Festival

A drama festival with four participating high schools was sponsored by the English Department in cooperation with the Western Speech Association yesterday afternoon and this morning.

The Western Speech Association furnished one critic judge from Fresno State College's Speech department.

Arroyo Grande Union High School presented "The Happy Journey," by Thornton Wilder. Sam Steigerwalt directed.

"The storm," by Donald Payton was presented by San Luis Obispo Senior High School under direction of Richard Yeo.

D.V. Raina and E. Rodman were directors of "The Wall," by Verne Powers performed by Atascadero Union High School students.
